"Well John!" "I Am Sorry, Mary?"-Hoch

Mrs. Hendricks, of Chicago, One of "Bluebeard's" Wives, IDENTIFIES HIM IN NEW YORK JAIL.

He Responds to Her Exclamation—Then He is Taken Back to His Cell—Roll of Alleged Spouses Grows.

New York, Feb. 4.—John Hoch was identified by Mrs. Mary Hendricks, of Chicago, today as the man who married her on January 2, 1901, in Hammond, Ind.

Mrs. Hendricks said that Hoch married her under the name of Jacob Schmidt and that after three weeks he deserted her after she had given to him all her savings of $500.

Mrs. Hendricks arrived from Chicago today and was taken into police headquarters where Hoch and eleven others were arraigned in line for identification. Mrs. Hendricks at once recognized Hoch and said to him:

"Well John!"

"I am sorry, Mary," was Hoch's response.

Hoch was then taken back to his cell.

More Women Suspect Him.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Pasadena (Cal.) police have connected the marriage of Johann Hoch to Martha Harfeldt, in Chicago.

Word was received by the police here today from the Chief of Police at Pasadena that the woman had recognized the picture of Hoch as the man who, under the name of Jacob Erdorf Hoch, married her in Chicago.

Police Inspector Shipley today advanced a theory that possibly the unidentified body among the victims of the Irquois Theatre fire was that of one of the wives of John Hoch.

Inspector Suspicious.

The inspector's suspicion is due to a circumstance connected with an attempt that was made by telephone to obtain the woman's jewelry from an undertaker.

"When Hoch arrived here," said Inspector Shipley, "I started to question him about this matter and also concerning a young woman whose body was washed ashore at Santa Haven, Mich., last summer."

The roll of Hoch's alleged wives continued to grow today.

Frank Weninger, an employee of a brewing company here, told the police that in 1898 he came to America from Wurtemberg, Germany, on the same steamer with Hoch.

Said She Had Died.

On the ship, according to Weninger's story, was a young woman domestic, to whom Hoch paid marked attentions. As soon as the vessel reached New York Hoch married the girl, who was said to have some money.

Two months later Weninger says he met Hoch, who told him, with apparent grief, that the bride had died.

FATAL WRECK ON THE NEW YORK CENTRAL R. R.

Fireman Killed, Engineer Fatally Hurt and Several Passengers Injured as Result of Boiler Explosion.

Whitesboro, N. Y., Feb. 4.—One railroad employe was killed, one fatally hurt and several passengers were injured in a wreck on the New York Central road near here early yesterday.

The boiler of the engine drawing train No. 22, westbound from Boston and New York, exploded. The locomotive toppled over upon the eastbound track and just at that moment the Buffalo special, known as train No. 30, approached from the west, running at high speed.

The entire train was derailed when it struck the derailed engine. There were seven or eight Pullman cars in the Buffalo special, but the train is said not to have carried many passengers.

The cars on leaving the track rolled over a slight embankment and lay on their sides. All the passengers were hurried from their berths and many were severely bruised and cut.

When a correspondent of the Associated Press was on the westbound train left the scene, passengers on the Buffalo special were being helped through the windows and it was not believed that any person had been killed, with the exception of the fireman on the westbound train. He met instant death and his engineer was probably fatally injured.

The dead:

JOHN BRENNAN, fireman of engine attached to train No. 23.

Injured:

John Allen, engineer of train No. 23.

Military.—Mob Uses Revolvers and Clubs.

Strikers in Lodz, Russia, Attempted to Prevent Plant Resuming.

TROOPS OPENED FIRE AND THE STRIKERS REPLIED AND KEPT UP OPPOSITION TO THE Czar's Soldiers.

Warsaw, Feb. 4.—Serious disorders broke out today at Lodz, where 25,000 men are striking. Some of the employees of a lace factory attempted to return to work, and the remainder furiously prevented them. A strong military patrol was summoned and attacked and fired at the strikers, who replied with revolver shots. It is reported over the telephone that the firing was continued at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Strikes were started this morning in the coal districts of Dombrowa and Sosnowice. It is feared they will have a serious effect on the industrial situation generally, Warsaw, Lodz and other important manufacturing centers being entirely dependent for their coal supply on these districts. According to the brief information obtainable, the official list of persons killed during the disturbances here contains over 300 names, in addition to many unidentified bodies lying at the receiving vault in the cemetery. The unidentified dead will be buried tonight. A group of soldiers outside a liquor store last night fired on passersby without warning, killing a shopkeeper and wounding another man.

Heavy Loss Was Inflicted on the Russian Rank and File.

GEN. MITCHENKO WAS ADVANCING AND CARRYING OUTPOSTS WHEN THE ORDER WAS GIVEN TO RETIRE.

Mukden, Feb. 1.—Via Tien Tsin, February 3.—(Delayed in Transmission).—All the natives of Holantai and Fuchienhuang, who were let through the lines during the Russian occupation, arrived at Mukden on January 31, except a few who were killed in battle. The impression is general among the Russian troops on the right bank that either Gen. Nodzu or Gen. Nogi was present at Sandipon, where the Russians ascribe their greatest losses to cleverly concealed batteries behind the main works. The Japanese withdrew from their outworks at Sandipon, which the Russians occupied. Gen. Mischeuko was still advancing carrying out a flanking movement, intending to cut the railroad north of Liao Yang, and was taking outpost after outpost with prisoners, when the order to retire came. Although intrenched, the infantry were not successfully combatted the enemy as has happened heretofore.

VERDICT

In the Schafer Murder Will Be Rendered Monday—Attorneys for Both Sides on the Witness Stand.

Bedford, Ind., Feb. 4.—Arguments consumed nearly the entire day in the preliminary hearing of Frank Evans and Elmer Browning, charged with the murder of Miss Sarah Schafer.

Attorney Frank M. Vance, of the defense, testified that after George W. Riley, the newspaper reporter had asked him to work on the case as an attorney, Riley went immediately to Underwood's office.

On cross examination Vance stated that George Riley said he had authority from a Cincinnati newspaper to pay Vance $50 as an attorney fee to help prosecute the case.

Rosecoe Browning testified that he never saw the clothes that have been exhibited in Court on Elmer Browning or about his father's premises, and that his brother Elmer was ill from la grippe at the time of Miss Schafer's murder. He also stated that Elmer did not have any gold, silver or paper money about the premises at the time of the murder, but said he did not know where his brother was on the nights of January 21, 22 or 23, 1904.

Attorney John H. Underwood, of the prosecution, said:

"I never asked Detective Bob Jones or any one else to bloody say

BRYANT FIGHTS A REQUISITION

Doesn't Want to Go to Bryan for Trial.

GEO. LETCHER MAKES MOVE

HIS ATTORNEYS SECURE DEPO- SITION OF MAN INDICTED WITH HIM FOR ARSON AT MONTPELIER.

Bryan, Ohio, Feb. 4.—The prosecuting attorney for Williams county has had requisition papers issued for Ira Bryant, of Hudson, Mich., who was jointly indicted here with Geo. Letcher, now in jail for the burning of his store in Montpelier, over twenty years ago. The requisition is now pending at Lansing before the governor of Michigan.

It is understood that Bryant, like Letcher, will resist coming into the state. In fact, it looks just now as if there may be quite a legal battle before he will come into the jurisdiction of the courts of Ohio. The state is quite confident that the proceedings are regular and such will be successful. The defense seems equally confident.

In the meantime the attorneys for Letcher served notice upon the state to take the testimony of Ira Bryant, jointly indicted with Letcher. This was done by interrogatories prepared by counsel upon both sides, and the testimony was taken at Hudson, Mich. Grant Fellows looked after the interest of Letcher and Ed. Geuder gave attention to the rights of the state. A very lengthy examination was made, and each side claims the advantage. It remains to be seen, of course, on the trial, which begins February 27, how much of it is competent or can be used.

INSANE YOUTH IS MISSING

Parents Fear He Has Been Frozen to Death.

Hawson, Ohio, Feb. 4.—Charles Powell, son of James Powell, returned home Friday from the Toledo asylum, where he has been for treatment for six months. While attending a show at Benton Ridge Tuesday evening he became violently insane. He was taken home and on Wednesday left home unknown to his parents. He was traced through fields and woods for a distance of five miles and then all traces of him were lost. It is feared he has frozen to death as Wednesday night was zero weather. He is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Powell.

TRAINER SOLD THE HORSE

Miller Had Hancy Arrested for Stealing the Animal.

St. Marys, Ohio, Feb. 4.—Earl Hancy, a horse trainer in this city, was arrested and bound over to court here, charged with stealing a horse belonging to S. E. Miller, of Mendon, Ohio, and appropriating the money to his own use. Last July Miller placed a horse in his hands to be trained. Soon after Hancy took the horse to Muncie, Ind., disposing of it and left for parts unknown. Since then, he says he has traveled through Texas, New Mexico and other southern states. He was arrested immediately upon his return home.

GETTING TOO FAT TO LIVE

Green Camp Man Dying as Result of Peculiar Malady.

Marion, Ohio, February 4.—Benjamin Moore of Green Camp, is dying as a result of taking on weight. Moore, who is 55 years of age, has gained 170 pounds in weight in the last four years, and the physicians attending him are unable to check his growing tendency. They say there is little hope of his recovery. Moore became afflicted with rheumatism about fifteen years ago. It was not long until he was unable to walk. He then began to take on fat. At first no danger was apprehended, but of late he has been gaining fat so rapidly that his vital organs are being compressed and breathing is daily becoming more difficult.

GOT TOO MANY PRESENTS

Husband Accused Wife of Receiving "Lord" Houghton's Gifts.

Marion, Ohio, Feb. 4.—The answer and cross-petition of Henry Gill, of Houghton, to his wife's petition for divorce, has created a sensation. Gill alleging that Edward P. Houghton, of this city, known throughout this part of the state as "Lord" Houghton, owing to his English ancestry, has been sending his wife gloves, handkerchiefs, shoes, slippers, dresses and other presents of more or less value. Houghton is prominent here, and took a leading part in Union county politics before coming to this city.

ACCORDING TO EXPERTS

PROPOSED APPROPRIATION OF $200,000 HARDLY ENOUGH TO BUILD SHORT PIPE LINE.

Coffeyville, Kan., Feb. 4.—The building of state refinery in Kansas is the topic of conversation throughout the oil districts of southern Kansas. This talk is mostly limited to the natives, as the old oil men from the east thoroughly understand the conditions of the field and says but little. The native oil men have had but little chance to learn the business, as their operations extend back to a period of only a couple of years, hence they are ripe for anything that might happen to come up. They are really of the opinion that the building of a refinery by the state would bring them larger incomes from their investments, but time will tell when it becomes too

TERRIBLY SCALDED.

Delphos, Ohio, Feb. 4.—A two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Snyder, left alone for a few moments in a room where a basin of boiling water had been placed on the floor, sat down in the water and was scalded. It was feared the scalds would prove fatal, but the child is recovering.

BRIEF STATE TELEGRAMS.

Delphos, Ohio, Feb. 4.—Evan Evans, of Venadoia, died suddenly from apoplexy, at the age of 3. Mr. Evans was stricken while apparently in the best of health. The funeral held from the Congregational church at Venadoia, was largely attended.

Jesse Bessler and Laura Sprackler were married at Bowling Green yesterday afternoon by Rev. F. H. Esser. Both are Prairie Depot young people.

Steps are being taken to organize a Young Women's Christian Association in Marion; the movement being backed by the state organization.

J. H. Fellers, of Benton Ridge, has a dollar that bears the date of 1793. Mr. Fellers has carried it as a pocket piece for 75 years.

W. W. Poorman, who was born in Townsend township, Sandusky county, 81 years ago, died in Fremont yesterday.

The residents of Alcony, northwest of Springfield, have completed great preparations for the annual fox drive today. It is expected that 400 people will take part. Dr. F. S. Denton, ex-state senator has charge of arrangements.

The Rev. Charles Stroud will case will be heard next Tuesday in common pleas court at Springfield. He left his entire estate, valued at $150,000, to Wittenberg college. Sixteen nieces and a nephew brought suit to have the will set aside, claiming that it was not his last will.

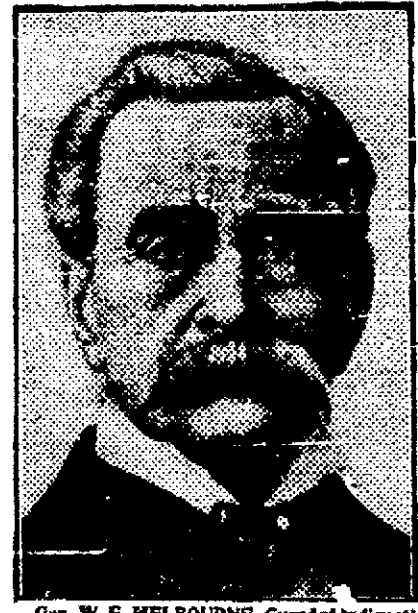

George Marica, who was indicted for stealing from a roommate's trunk at Bowling Green, was permitted to plead to petit larceny yesterday and was sentenced to thirty days in the workhouse.

Harry Bradley brought suit in Findlay today against the C. T. Jackson company for damages in the amount of $1,500 for injuries alleged to have been received while engaged as a laborer on the glass block.

Abraham K. Crane, of Alexandria, died last night at the home of his son in Findlay as a result of injuries received Wednesday. Mr. Crane was walking along the street when he slipped and fell.

War-Scarred Union Generals Defy Disease and Old Age

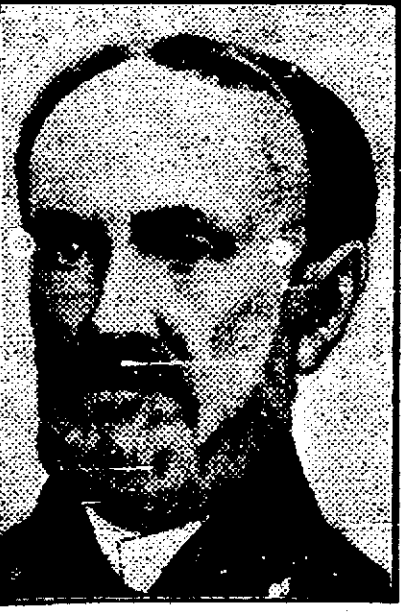

General Melbourne and Major-General Hamilton, Past 88 Years of Age, Beloved and Honored Veterans of the Civil War, Tell How They Overcame Wounds and Disease and Keep Vigorous and Healthy in Old Age, by Use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

Gen. W. F. MELBOURNE, Cured of Indigestion and Stomach Trouble by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

"I am a veteran of the war with Mexico, the expedition for the suppression of the Free State in Kansas in 1856, and the Mormon rebellion in 1857. I have fought the Indians for years, served through the Civil War, and was in the war with Spain. Despite all, I am thankful to say I have enjoyed health since a few months ago, when I suffered a severe attack of stomach trouble, dyspepsia and indigestion. I went all to pieces. I tried many 'cures,' but without relief. Finally I commenced on Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It quickly cured me, and my health is splendid in every way. I find Duffy's one of the most invigorating and rejuvenating tonic stimulants, and cordially recommend it, especially to those getting along in years."—W. F. MELBOURNE, Sec. Nat. Ass'n Mexican War Veterans, New York, Aug. 10, 1904.

Among survivors of the great war for the preservation of the Union, none are more distinguished for conspicuous courage and gallantry on the field of battle than Gen. W. F. Melbourne and Major-Gen. Alexander Hamilton, grandson of the great American patriot and signer of the Declaration of Independence. Like thousands who find themselves growing weak and infirm through sickness or old age they sought vigor and health in Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, the great tonic stimulant and health builder.

Major-Gen. ALEXANDER HAMILTON, Aged 88, Weakened and Run Down by Wounds and Catarrh, Built Up and Invigorated by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. After All Other Medicines Failed.

"For many years I have been a sufferer from chronic catarrh and other complications as a result of wounds received in the Civil War. After trying almost every known remedy without satisfactory or encouraging results, I dropped everything and began to use Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey exclusively. I began at once to improve, and though in my eighty-ninth year I am a strong and vigorous man, in possession of all my faculties, and every trace of my catarrh has disappeared. I can never forget what your grand medicine has done for me, or cease to recommend its use to all who are sick, run down, or out of sorts."—ALEXANDER HAMILTON, Tarrytown, N. Y., Aug. 30, 1904.

4,000 CENTENARIANS OWE HEALTH AND OLD AGE TO Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

There are 4,000 men and women in this country alone who have passed the hundred year mark, and nearly every one of them has publicly acknowledged that in or the over healthy strength, continued use of all the faculties, and extreme old age to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, the great cure and preventive of disease, the true elixir of life. We will send you free a booklet containing portraits and letters of many of these old people, and valuable medical information.

If you would be strong, husky and vigorous, and able to enjoy the work and pleasures of life to the fullest; if you would live to ripe old age without aches and pains, take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as directed, and avoid all drugs. Doctors say it's the most powerful aid they have in fighting and curing diseases of throat, lungs and stomach, low fevers and all weakening, wasting, nervous, run-down, dissipated conditions from oil an appropriation of something like twenty millions of dollars would be more like it," says an old timer at the refining business. And that is only a part of what the Standard is putting into the industry in Kansas, Indian Territory and Oklahoma.

The question of who will succeed General Manager and Vice President George S. Southard, the man who built the solar refinery and who has been its vice president ever since its construction, was made public after the annual meeting of the directors of the company. Mr. Southard was known throughout the oil districts of Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana, and in addition built all the Standard's refineries abroad. He succeeded J. W. Van Dyke when he was called to Philadelphia a year ago, but his return here was considered only temporary, and Southard resigned and eliminated himself as a Standard Oil man on December 1. At the election W. A. Barslow was chosen general manager and vice president, the position carrying with it $10,000 a year salary; J. C. Neubauer, who has been auditor of the Solar since its location here, was advanced to assistant general manager and man in charge, and received a handsome increase, while former Treasurer F. C. Georges has his office combined with that of secretary-treasurer.

Former Manager Southard, who purchased a handsome home here, has his residence on the market, and will soon return to Oklahoma, where with his son, George L. Southard, and New York capitalists, he will engage in the cement business, having a large tract of cement beds under lease.

REFINED OIL DECLINES.

Standard Oil Company Forces Product Down One Cent.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 4.—The Standard Oil company reduced the price on all grades of refined oil 1 cent per gallon. Quotations issued by the company today were as follows: Ohio state test, 8 1/2 c; W. V. Ohio state test, 9 1/2 c; H. L. 175 degree, 10 1/2 c; Ecocene, 11 1/2 c. No change was made in the price of gasoline or naptha.

PITTSBURGH HAS NO GAS SUPPLY. SAME OLD EXCUSE MADE. "BREAK IN LINE."

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 4.—The coldest weather in six years was experienced today in this city and vicinity when the thermometer in the outlying districts reached 6 below zero and in the city proper 7 degrees below was registered.

Owing to a bad break in a gas main in West Virginia a gas shortage was general all over the country and in the city suffering followed. A number of manufacturing plants were obliged to quit work on account of the whatever cause. It acts quickly and builds up the whole system. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is used exclusively in leading hospitals. The old reliable family remedy of hundreds of thousands for over fifty years. Its purity is vouchsafed by chemists, and by the fact that it's the only whiskey recognized by the Government as a medicine. Every testimonial is published in good faith and guaranteed.

AVOID SUBSTITUTES.

Be sure you get the genuine Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, sold in bottles only, by all reliable druggists and grocers, or direct, price, $1.00. It is the only absolutely pure medicinal whiskey and contains no harmful elements. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Blend," on the label, and be certain the seal over the cork is unbroken. If offered in flasks or bulk it's a fraud, is dangerous, and will not cure.

MRS. CODY BLAMES
LADY PRESS AGENT

In Answer to "Buffalo Bill's" Divorce
Suit She Aims at Young People.

Denies His Allegations—Says She Sewed to Help
Out the Household Before Success Crowned Her Husband.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Feb. 4—Mrs.
William F. Cody goes after her husband, the noted "Buffalo Bill," in vigorous fashion in her answer to his suit for a divorce, now before a local court.

She denies the charge of Col. Cody that she attempted to poison him on Dec. 26, 1900, or ever threatened to,
and says she has been a faithful and obedient wife during the thirty-eight years of their married life. She alleges that Cody charged her with attempting to poison him on Dec. 26, 1900, but he did not bring his suit until Feb. 29, 1904, so that even if his charge were true he was guilty of laches and could not bring it as grounds for his action.

Mrs. Cody alleges that when they were married her husband was a government scout on a small salary; that Cody neglected to provide for his family as he should, but spent his time in gambling and carousing with persons of both sexes, and that for several years she worked as a seamstress to provide the necessities of life for herself and children.

In later years, when he made a fortune in the show business, he gave her large sums of money, and that she invested in real estate in North Platte, in order to provide a home for them during their old age. She says he has habitually preferred other women to her, but that she always condoned and forgave under a promise from him that he would mend his ways.

She makes a general denial of the allegation that she has been guilty of such indignities to him as to render his life intolerable. She denies that she frequently appeared before his guests attired in an old wrapper and that she did not treat his guests with discounties or insult them or refuse to cook for them, but says she always treated them with courtesy and kindness, although on many occasions his guests were females with whom no self-respecting woman would hold social intercourse. Even if she had been fault-finding at times, this was due to his transgressions.

Mrs. Cody avers that she never refused to sign papers incumbering the plaintiff's property, but that, on the other hand, she had signed mortgages upon her husband's property since the suit was instituted, and moreover, had frequently mortgaged her own property in order to raise money for Col. Cody. At the present time her property was mortgaged for $2,500, the money having been given to Col. Cody for his own use.

Mrs. Cody alleges that during the world's fair at Chicago in 1893, while
Col. Cody had his "Wild West Show" at that place, he had openly and flagrantly sought the companionship of another woman, Mrs. Cody says they went to Chicago to visit her husband, but discovered him with this woman and rebuked him, but that he refused to give her up and that she had returned to her home in North Platte without remaining to visit the fair.

Girl in the Case.
She alleges that in 1900 Cody became acquainted with a young woman named Bessie Ishell, 19 years of age, and that it was after he met her that he falsely accused Mrs. Cody of attempting to poison him. She says Miss Ishell travels with Col. Cody's show, acting as "lady press agent," and is warmly admired by the colonel.

She says Cody visited her for the last time Dec. 25, 1901; that at that time she was willing to forgive him his past transgressions, received him into her home, accompanied him to the train and that he kissed her good-by and showed no indication that their relations were in any way strained.

Mrs. Cody admits that Col. Cody wrote after the death of their daughter that they would lay aside their differences and attend the funeral of their child in peace, but denies that during the trip across the continent she insulted Col. Cody or used insulting language at the grave of their daughter.

The reply of Col. Cody to the answer has already been prepared. It will be a general denial of all the allegations set up by Mrs. Cody. This will complete the issues in the case ready for trial. The first trial of the case will be held before Judge Scott here next week when depositions of witnesses will be taken. Other verbal testimony will be given later at Sioux Falls, when the case will be argued.

BOY GUILTY OF ASSAULT

Dime Novel Reader Comes to Natural Fate—Trial Lasted Two Days.

Bowling Green, O., Feb. 4—A boy in the common place court late last night returned a verdict of guilty th girl out toward her home in the against Warren Kelly, a 15-year-old smoothboy, who was charged with attempted criminal assault. This trial lasted two days, and was bitterly contested. The crime was marked by perniciously atrocious features. The boy is said to have followed the girl out toward her home in the country, from Braden, and to have threw a 2 1/2 lb. brick, hitting her dead from cold and fright. The boy was a 10-year-old, and details of the crime were given in detail.

Always Remember the Fall Line
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 3 Days

You Can Be Cured.

No. 11 Cedar Terrace,
Box 1870, April 24, 1905.

When I was first married I found that my strength and health were gradually diminishing. I became nervous and irritable, and was in bed a week and sometimes ten days of every month, and had intense bearing down pains.
My husband had the best physician for me and I used his medicine for nearly four months, but I gradually grew worse, had less strength, and finally, I was unable to leave my bed at all.

A friend who was calling on me brought me a bottle of Wine of Cardui and was so kind in its price that I sold her that I would take it to please her.

I was surprised and pleased that before I had used the bottle I really felt better, so I kept on using it. Eight bottles brought back my lost health and strength, and I have not had a sick day in six months.

WINE OF CARDUI

Mrs. Finnegan had little hope of relief because she knew that every time she had those spells of menstrual suffering with attendant bearing down pains she was weaker. And every month the pain was growing more severe.

But Mrs. Finnegan was cured by Wine of Cardui. She is now as well as there are few women who would not be glad to have the health she has. And any woman who has those dreaded bearing down pains can have the same relief.

You can be free from menstrual irregularities if you take this pure vegetable wine. Why don't you take it when you see what it has done for others? Secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui today.

Your druggist has $1.00 bottles.

Hinkley's Bone Liniment

For internal and external use.

A purely vegetable family medicine for internal and external use. An old reliable remedy that will relieve quickly every pain that has a name, in both old and young. It goes to the spot. Rheumatism, colds, sore throat, neuralgia, bruises, chilblains, frost bite—wherever there is a pain Hinkley's Bone Liniment will cure it. Take it in, rub it on. Sells for 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle, and the druggist will get it for you if he does not have it in stock. Take no substitute. Take no chances. Get the original.

"I have used your liniment and it is just fine. I used many bottles of it. I believe it is the best medicine on earth, and I believe it will cure any disease of man. I never miss an opportunity of recommending it to my neighbors and friends."

Mrs. Rosa Lafonde, Clonquet, Minn.

Hinkley's Bone Liniment is a specific pain killer. Acts quickly, brings relief almost at once. Get a bottle today and be prepared for emergencies.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 4.—That Charles Dolman choked his wife until she was unconscious, poured oil over her clothes, set them afire and then sat down to watch her die are the charges made against him by de-

Oranges From Porto Rico.

FROM REV. R. J. THOM-SON.

Rev. R. J. Thomason dropped into the DAILY NEWS office last evening and ever since we have been feasting on Porto Rican oranges.

Since his visit to that island at year or more ago the Reverend has been very enthusiastic concerning that country.

The oranges are from the Aroabo region, on the north shore of the island of Porto Rico, where several Lima citizens own groves, and are from trees which have grown up wild without cultivation or care, being prized only for the shade they furnish for other growths. The unusual juiciness of the fruit, together with its sweetness and fine flavor, is the result of the abundant rains and sunshine with which the island is favored, such a thing as irrigation being unknown. The fine character of the soil fruit indicates somewhat what the cultivated oranges and grapefruit just coming into the market will be. They herald the new era in orange and grape fruit production upon which the world has entered.

Thurs. will be played by Jack Bell,
well known animal impersonator.
There is an elaborate production including the services of some fifty people, a chorus, ballet and a body of girls warranted to be quadruple-plated beauty to wear the "smile that won't come off," and to be costumed by Wainmaker in the best and most gorgeous fashions.

THE MEDICAL SENSATION OF THE AGE—THE DISCOVERY OF PE-RU-NA

BY DR. S. B. HARTMAN.

Other Remedies Failed—Pe-ru-na Cured.

Mrs. Chas. Steinecke, Stoughton, Wis., writes: "My experience with Peruna has been most pleasing. By carelessly leaving a heated hall room I got thoroughly chilled and caught a heavy cold which settled on my lungs. I was a protracted, took many remedies for cold without success. With my other troubles I had catarrh of the head. "Peruna was recommended to me and I bought a bottle and soon began to improve. I kept on taking it and it cured me from all my troubles. I am pleased to testify to its merits."

The World's Greatest Medicine

The rapid growth of the Peruna Medicine Company is as phenomenal in the business world as the universal popularity of their famous remedy, Peruna. The plant covers a number of acres and employs several hundred people. No other medicine firm in the world reaches anything like the volume of business done by Dr. Hartman's firm. Although Peruna is a proprietary medicine, the details of its compounding are no secret and nothing gives Dr. Hartman greater pleasure than to show the many friends of Peruna all the es-

A Doctor's Prescription.

For years Dr. Hartman used Peruna in his private practice as a regular prescription. He had no thought of manufacturing it or advertising it as a proprietary medicine until there was a demand made upon him by his many friends, who claimed for the original prescription.

Forty Thousand Patients.

Dr. Hartman estimates that he must have prescribed Peruna for over forty thousand patients before it was advertised as a proprietary medicine.

Cured in Four Weeks of Severe Cold on Lungs.

Miss Josie Schaezel, R. R. No. 1, Appleton, Wis., writes: "I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs in very short order and it was not long until it developed into a serious case of catarrh. Every morning I would raise a lot of phlegm, which was very disagreeable. My digestion was poor and my lungs sore. "After a few doses of Peruna, I began to mend, and felt that if I kept on taking it, it would not be long until it would be well. I was right, for in four weeks I was well again. "I think Peruna is a grand medicine, and wish to add my testimony to the many others you have."—Josie Schaezel.

Pe-ru-na Removes the Cause of Catarrh.

Peruna has no bad effects upon the system and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh. There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used off and on for twenty years.

Given Up By Doctors—Cured By Pe-ru-na.

Miss Margaret Fahey, 49 Adams street, Troy, N. Y., writes: "We have used Peruna in our family for years and I am very pleased to say that it cured me of catarrh of the lungs when the doctors gave up all hope of my recovery. "I used Peruna for six months and at the end of that time my cough had disappeared, my appetite was much better and I had gained ten pounds and looked the picture of health. "I am in perfect health, now, and feel that Peruna not only cures catarrh, but builds up the system, and is therefore a grand medicine."—Margaret Fahey.

Pe-ru-na's Popularity. Peruna is not like so many other remedies that pass away as soon as the first few bottles are used. The longer Peruna is used in any community, the more popular it becomes.

Pe-ru-na Actually Cures. The reason why Peruna has become a standard catarrh remedy the world over is simply because it cures catarrh.

This explains why Peruna has become so popular. It cures catarrh. This is an amply sufficient reason why it should become popular. Catarrh is almost universal. Catarrh is difficult to cure. The doctors do not care to treat cases of catarrh at all. It therefore follows that when a remedy is devised that can be used in the home at a moderate cost, such a remedy should inevitably become popular.

Entirely Cured By Several Bottles of Pe-ru-na.

Miss Ella M. Miller, one of Washington's society girls, writes from 140 F street, N. E., Washington, D. C., as follows: "With pleasure I recommend your medicine for catarrh of the head. Having taken several bottles, I find myself entirely cured. I cannot praise Peruna too highly."—Ella M. Miller.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

There are a great many catarrh cures in the world. The most of them are local applications. Few of them are to be used internally.

Unfortunately a large number of these catarrh remedies, especially the ones prescribed by the doctors, contain narcotics of some sort. Cocaine, opium, whiskey, and other narcotics are used. These remedies give temporary relief. The patient thinks he is better right away. In a few weeks, however, he discovers his mistake. Not only is his catarrh no better, but he has acquired the habit of using some narcotic. This happens in a multitude of cases.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind.

Peruna is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit.

Ask Your Druggist for a Free Peruna Almanac for 1905.

Here Is a Brief Resume of the Happenings in the Last Seven Days of Your Friends' Lives—Purely in a Social Vein—Much Gracious Hospitality Is Extended—In Many Different Circles—A Tale of the Entertainers and the Entertained—People Who Come And Who Go.

Matrimonially the London season has been fairly satisfactory, says the Lady Pictorial but the number of engagements and weddings has been below the average. Not that "the tender passion" has lost its sway, but that financial considerations have more weight with both sexes than was once the case. It is still true that "youth will to youth," but the watchful eye of the prudent mother was never more on the alert, and many a man who would willingly have married himself still unmarried, and with only such souvenirs of the season as:

A fan, a card, a flower. With these compare, Heaped in one ruin, every cherished plan. Of former friends a disaffected clan. Some streets of wrinkles where the ground was fair. Some miles of unpaid bills, a load of care.

In those days of prudence versus passion it is often a case of "Love's Labor Lost," yet it would be cruel kindness not to point out that half the unhappy marriages one hears of are due to "the eternal want of peace."

Six Hand Euchre.

Not for some time has the Ancient club spent a more enjoyable afternoon than on Tuesday when they were so charmingly entertained by Mrs. J. E. Richie, in her home on Wayne and Washington streets. Six hand euchre was the afternoon's diversion and the prizes, a lovely picture and a book, going to Miss Maize and Mrs. Harry Moulton. An appetizing and dainty lunch was offered when the contest closed. Additional guests were:

Mrs. J. A. Bendure, Miss May Owen, Mrs. Lawrence Townsend, Mrs. Louis Fall, Mrs. Bender Moke, Mrs. Tanager West, Mrs. John Phillips, Mrs. J. C. Pomeroy, Mrs. J. B. Vail, Mrs. George McElaffey, Mrs. Craig, Mrs. J. J. Groves, Mrs. Shahan, Mrs. Fred Baum, Mrs. Charles Collins, Mrs. Lester Harrod, Mrs. A. C. Longworth, Mrs. Morton Seale, Mrs. Clinton Seale, Miss Julia Maize, Mrs. Wm. Stewart, Mrs. Charles Phillips, Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. J. H. Loney, Mrs. E. A. Bagart, Mrs. Francis Maize, Mrs. Henry Seibers, Mrs. W. B. Richie, Mrs. Roy Galvin, Mrs. Carson Dalzell, Mrs. Fred Becker, Mrs. Howard Hoyer, Mrs. Thomas McLaughlin, Mrs. Harry Moulton, Miss Belle Folsom, Mrs. Henry Deisel, Mrs. Otto Tague and guest, Miss Woodruff, of Van Wert.

Mrs. B. F. Welby, Mrs. A. Llewellyn, Mrs. George Newton, Miss Elmer Taylor.

Juvenile Party.

The Hiawatha club all dressed in school boy and girls, met at Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lamberton, on west Wayne street, Wednesday evening. After games were played and various amusements enjoyed, boxes filled with lunch which were previously prepared and numbered and the ladies were the bidders. Numbers corresponding to pictures displayed which identified in some way the profession or business of each gentleman present, was the clever and unusual scheme devised for the choosing of partners. It was a very merry affair and one likely to live long in the memories of every one who participated.

St. Marys Chapter.

St. Marys Chapter of Christ church met with Mrs. Harold Wakefield on Tuesday afternoon.

F. S. E.

The F. S. E. club and Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Ramseyer, Dr. and Mrs. Baudister and Miss Chambers, of Kentucky, were guests on Tuesday evening of Mr. and Mrs. William Parmenier at their home on west Market street.

A Few Guests at Dinner.

Mrs. Clarence Ross presided over a prettily laid dinner table on Monday evening around which were seated the members and their husbands of the Monday Night club. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Agerton, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heman, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. McCullough, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Mozier, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark enjoyed this very delightful dinner, the only guests aside from the members, being Mr. and Mrs. Carson Dalzell.

Skating Party.

Miss Herr, and the young pupils of her school participated in a skating party on Wednesday afternoon at the McCullough lake.

Again Entertained.

Friday night Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott living two miles this side of Beaver Dam, entertained these Lima nurses. They were the Misses Davies, Barge, Foot, Hodge, Mowery, Dree, Berry, Galloway, Keating, Patterson, Morris and Baxter.

Nurses Entertained.

Monday night Mr. and Mrs. Rody, living about five miles west of Lima, entertained the following Lima nurses. They were the Misses Davies, Barge, Foot, Hodge, Mowery, Dree, Berry, Galloway, Keating, Patterson and Little. After music and games supper was served.

The Sapphos.

Mrs. W. L. Mackenzie entertained the Sappho club on Thursday afternoon at her home on west Market street. The rooms were bright with carnations and the very interesting program follows:

Sketch of Composers Mrs. Thomson
Mendelssohn Concerto in G Minor
Arranged for two Pianos.
Meadames Moore and Mackenzie Selman Selected
Mrs. Baxter.
Reinecke Gayotte and Pastorale Meadames Southard and Mackenzie.
Mendelssohn Lullaby
Mrs. Roby.

Selman Concerto in A Minor Op. 54
Arranged for two pianos.
Meadames Moore, Mackenzie, Southard and Meheany, Miss Isabelle Mackenzie, Mrs. Laney, Mrs. G. T. Stewart, Mrs. William Stewart, Mrs. P. L. Bates, Misses Julia and Francis Maize, were numbered among the guests. During the evening Mrs. Mackenzie entertained about fifty guests. When the same program with a few changes was given, Mrs. Roy Banta at both times gave a delightful reading which was greatly enjoyed. Refreshments were served throughout the hours.

At Dinner.

Mrs. Charles Gering, of west Europa street, entertained at dinner at six o'clock on Thursday evening in honor of Mrs. Gimesey, who is the guest of Mrs. Stimp, of east High street.

For Miss Kahle.

Miss M. F. Riley entertained Miss Kahle, of Massillon, Mo. and Mrs. Gilles and Miss Edith Kahle at dinner one evening this week.

Married at Covington.

Mrs. L. A. Feyer, of Wapakoneta, and Miss Hattie M. Kirk, of this city, were quietly married on January 24th at Covington, Ky., just announcing their marriage to their friends this week. The bride is the daughter of Mr. J. W. Kirk, of south Elizabeth street, and has a great many friends who extend heartfelt congratulations.

Bridge Whist.

Miss Katherine Oxley is entertaining the Bridge Whist club this afternoon.

Surprised.

Mr. Wm. Sellers and wife, Mr. Andrew Ohler and wife, Mr. G. M. Core and wife, Mr. C. A. Perkins and wife, Mr. J. W. Falkner and wife, Mr. E. W. Sellers and wife, Mrs. Susan Walton, Mrs. Ida Miller, Mrs. Martha Frazier, Misses Jennie Sellers, Addie Sellers, Fannie Miller, Nellie Frazier, Ethel Core, Nellie Falkner and Master Lawrence Miller, Mr. W. H. Havil and Miss Addie Cook, of Lima, gathered together at the home of Mr. P. P. Walton at Uniopolis Monday to assist in celebrating his 37th birthday.

Epicureans.

Mrs. Roy Tompkins was the hostess to the Epicureans on Friday evening when they enjoyed a six o'clock dinner together.

At Cards.

The Afternoon Whist were guests of Miss Belle Folsom Friday afternoon. Miss Gladys Downing received the club prize, a pretty picture and Mrs. Wm. T. Agerton, the guests' prize, a beautiful gold almond spoon.

A very beautiful scene of Professor Napoleon will be that of eight Japanese girls, as represented in the picture, posing behind the parasols. They have a pretty song and the part is made especially beautiful by pretty costumes, music, lights and surrounding scenery.

Merry Party.

Last night at the home of Mr. J. M. Norris, 1045 east Wayne street, gathered a jolly crowd. Games and music were enjoyed and luncheon served later. The guests were: Miss Irene Fitch, Miss Bertha Baughman, Miss Carrie Bessler, Miss Chae Bessler, Miss Augie Johnston, Miss Andrea Bodkin, Miss Edna Norris, Mr. Earle Fitch, Mr. Frank Dunning, Mr. Bury Lukes, Mr. Zeal Bedford, Mrs. Chas. Waller, Mr. Earle Baughman, Mr. Marian Bessler, Mr. Clyde Bradford, Mr. Roy Mollenhour.

With Mrs. Thompson.

The Congregational circle will meet on Tuesday at 2 p. m. with Mrs. Fred Thompson, 220 west High street.

The Bay View.

The Bay View circle will meet Monday with Miss Katherine Reilly.

For Miss Brown.

Mrs. Charles Wheeler presided over a very pretty dinner party this evening when the places were arranged for the honored guest, Miss Blanche Brown, of Chicago, who is Miss Gertrude Seale's guest. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Banta, Mr. and Mrs. Bertou Seale, Mrs. J. M. Seale, Mr. Earl Seale, Miss Seale and Miss Margaret Seale.

At Tea.

Mrs. E. W. Jackson, of Union street, entertained very charmingly friends at tea Friday afternoon, in honor of Miss Lucy Noyes, of

The Johnstown, Pa., Journal said that never before had a prettier chorus been presented in this city. It is made magnificent by its pleasing effects and glowing colors.

Chapter I—The Sirdar, having among her passengers Mrs. Deane and her son, who is working as a waiter, is wrecked.

II—All are lost save Miss Deane and Jenks, who are cast ashore on an island in the Pacific.

III—Jenks recovers stores and weapons from the wrecked vessel. He finds the skeleton of a European on the island.

IV—A cave on the island is fitted up as a habitation. A chart of the island, mysteriously marked, is found on the skeleton.

Chinese boats, a wooden sandal, even the decayed remains of a polki, or litter.

At last he reached the edge of the pit, and the sight that met his eyes held him spellbound.

The labor of many hands had torn a chasm, a quarry, out of the side of the hill. Roughly circular in shape, it had a diameter of perhaps a hundred feet, and at its deepest part, toward the cliff, it ran to a depth of forty feet. On the lower side, where the sailor stood, it descended rapidly for some fifteen feet.

Grasses, shrubs, plants of every variety, grew in profusion down the steep slopes wherever seeds could find precarious nurture until a point was reached about ten or eleven feet from the bottom. There all vegetation ceased, as if forbidden to cross a magic circle.

Below this belt the place was a charnel house. The bones of men and animals mingled in weird confusion. Most were mere skeletons. A few bodies—nine the sailor counted—yet preserved some resemblance of humanity. These latter were scattered among the older relics. They were the clothes of Dyaks. Characteristic hats and weapons decorated their nationality. The others, the first harvest of the modern Golgotha, might have been Chinese coolies. When the sailor's fascinated vision could register details he distinguished bones, baskets, odd looking spades and picks strewn amid the bones. The animals were all of one type—small, black, with long pointed skulls. At last he spied a withered hoof. They were pigs.

Over all lay a thick coating of fine sand deposited from the eddying winds that could never reach the silent depths. The place was gruesome, horribly depressing. Jenks broke out into a clammy perspiration. He seemed to be looking at the secrets of the grave.

At last his superior intelligence asserted itself. His brain became clearer, recovered its power of analysis. He began to criticize, reflect and this is the theory he evolved.

Some one had dug down, had discovered valuable minerals in the volcanic rock. Mining operations were in full blast when the extinct volcano took its revenge upon the human ants gnawing at its flanks and smothered them by a deadly outpouring of carbonic acid gas, the bottled up poison of the ages. A horde of pigs, running wild over the island—placed there no doubt by Chinese fishers—had met the same fate while intent on drowsy orgies.

Then there came a European who knew how the activities of man being heavier than the surrounding air, he too, had striven to reach the treasures from the same by driving a tunnel into the cliff. He had partly succeeded and had gone away, perhaps to obtain help, after enviously registering his knowledge on the lid of a tin canister. To-day, again, probably fell into the hands of another man, who, curious but unaccounted caused himself to be set ashore on this desolate spot with a few inadequate stores. Possibly he had arranged to be taken off within a fixed time.

But a sampan laden with Dyak pirates came first, and the intrepid explorer's hopes rested near the well, while his head had gone to decorate the hut of some fierce village chief. The murderers, after burying their own dead—for the white man fought hard, witness the empty cartridges—searched the island. Some of them, ignorantly inquisitive, descended into the hollow. They remained there. The others, superstitious barbarians, fled for their lives, embarking so hastily that they took from the cave neither tools nor oil, though they would greatly prize these articles.

Such was the tragic web he spun, a compound of fact and fancy. It explained all perplexities save one. What did "32 divided by 1" mean? Was there yet another fearsome riddle awaiting solution?

And then his thoughts flew to Iris. Happen what might, her bright picture was seldom absent from his brain. Suppose, egg hunting, she had stumbled across this valley of death! How could he hope to keep it hidden from her? Was not the ghastly knowledge better than the horror of a chance ramble through the wood and the shock of discovery—nay, indeed, the risk of a catastrophe?

He rushed back through the trees until he caught sight of Iris industriously kneeling the sage pith in one of those most useful fish covers.

He called to her, led her wondering to the track and pointed out the fatal quarry, but in such wise that she could not look inside it.

"You remember that round hole we saw from the summit rock?" he said. "Well, it is full of carbonic acid gas, to breathe which means unconsciousness and death. It gives no warning to the inexperienced. It is rather pleasant than otherwise. Promise me you will never come near this place again."

Now, Iris, too, had been thinking deeply. Robert Jenks bulged large in her day dreams. Her nerves were not yet quite normal. There was a catch in her throat as she answered:

"I don't want to die. Of course I will keep away. What a horrid island this is! Yet it might be a paradise."

She bit her lip to suppress her tears, but, before the Eve in this garden, she continued.

"How did you find out? Is there anything—musty—in there?"

"Yes, the remains of animals and other things. I would not have told you were it not imperative."

"Are you keeping other secrets from me?"

"Oh, quite a number."

He managed to conjure up a smile, and the ruse was effective. She applied the words to his past history.

"I hope they will not be revealed so dramatically," she said.

"You never can tell," he answered. They were in prophetic vein that morning. They returned in silence to the cave.

"I wish to go inside with a lamp. May I?" he asked.

"May I come too?" she demanded.

He assented, with an explanation of his design. When the lamp was in order he held it close to the wall and detected a systematic survey. The geological fault which favored the construction of the tunnel seemed to diverge to the left at the farther end. The "face" of the rock exhibited the marks of persistent labor. The stone had been heaved away by main force when the dislocation of strata ceased to be helpful.

His knowledge was limited on the subject, yet Jenks believed that the material here was a hard limestone rather than the external basalt. Searching each inch with the feeble light, he paused once, with an exclamation.

"What is it?" cried Iris.

"I cannot be certain," he said doubtfully. "Would you mind holding the lamp while I use a crowbar?"

In the stone was visible a thin vein, bluish white in color. He managed to break off a fair sized lump containing a well defined specimen of the foreign metal.

They hurried into the open air and examined the fragment with curious eyes. The sailor picked it with his knife, and the substance in the vein came off in laminated layers, small, brittle scales.

"Is it silver?" Iris was almost excited.

"I do not think so. I am no expert but I have a vague idea—I have seen—"

He wrinkled his brows and pressed away the furrows with his hand, that physical habit of his when perplexed.

"I have it," he cried. "It is antimony."

Miss Deane pursed her lips in disdain. Antimony! What was antimony?

"So much fuss for nothing," she said. "It is used in alloys and medicines."

He explained. "To us it is useless."

He threw the piece of rock contemptuously among the bushes. But, he was thorough in all that he undertook. He returned to the cave and again conducted an inspection. The silver

Frank Deshon of the "Miss Bob White" Opera company had a rehearsal called for the orchestra at four o'clock at Middleboro, Ky., one day last week. When he arrived at the theatre he noticed that only five had shown up and the contract called for seven. "Where are the other two musicians?" inquired Frank. "Well, replied the leader, who looked like a three card monte-man, if it rains they will be here at five o'clock and if it don't they will be here at six o'clock." Deshon was furious when one of the more collected of the wind-lammers volunteered the information that the two missing links did not depend entirely on the theatre business for their living, but explained that they both drove sprinkling carts in addition to their "tooting" propensities. "Miss Bob White" will be presented at the Faurot opera house this afternoon and evening.

The picture represents the part of the incantation scene with the Wizard (Myron C. Wickham) in the center with the witches to each side of him and the little imps in front of him. The witches have a clever dance and song entitled "We will make you young again." The scenery is that of the lobbyway of the college, with the marble stairway winding around the statuary carved in the marble pillars.

These witches are dressed in short red dresses, low neck, short sleeves and high hats. The wizard and imps are also dressed in red silk, the latter carrying pitch forks.

George Klime's $10,000 production of W. L. Robert's new play "On the Bridge at Midnight" will be seen at the Faurot next Wednesday night. It is a production on a more elaborate scale than any heretofore attempted for this style of a play. With a powerful cast and a grand equipment of scenery, this piece easily takes its place at the top of the ladder. It tells an extremely interesting story of the search of a blind mother for her only child who was kidnapped years ago. The theme of the piece is interwoven with romance and comedy and brings forth some exceptionally good character sketches, which goes to make the play surprisingly interesting, and with a scenic equipment such as no other show of its kind has, it is foremost in everything. The bridge scene from which the play takes its name, represents a jack knife bridge in full working order, which is conceded to be the triumph of the stage manager's art.

Bertha Galland, who comes to the Faurot opera house on February 13, although one of the youngest of our successful stars, has played many roles that usually fall to the lot of actresses of twice her years. In fact Miss Galland might, with only a slight sacrifice of truth, have been billed as "the child actress" when, at the age of fifteen appearing as co-star with the late Joseph H. Worth she played Ophelia, Juliet, Desdemona and Lady Macbeth. She won her first prominent success however, as Otello with James K. Hackett in "The Pride of Jennico." Although under the management of Daniel Frohman, Miss Galland added to her fame in "Forest of Love" and "Notre Dame." It was not until J. Fred Zimmerman, Jr., provided her with Paul Keeler's dramatization of Charles Major's famous novel that the young actress was given an opportunity to display the extent of her rare and versatile art.

The action of the play takes place in the Elizabethan period and not only "Good Queen Bess," but her unfortunate cousin, Mary Queen of Scots appears in the intensely interesting scenes with which the play is said to abound.

George Ade, the noted humorist, author of the musical comedy "Peggy From Paris," which will be an early offering at the Faurot opera house has told a decidedly interesting story in the play, in which he cleverly satirizes the American habit of heaping attention on distinguished foreigners while overlooking native genius. "Peggy" is Peggy Plummer of Hickory Creek, Ill., who goes abroad to study music. There she is discovered by a theatrical manager who brings her to this country as Mlle. Fleurette. She is aware that the public will pay higher prices to hear such a person than they would to hear a native-born American. Arriving in Chicago, Peggy Plummer telegraphs her relatives, a Hickory Creek of her presence in the city and they go in quest of her. After many adventures in the big city their search leads them to the stage of the Faurot theatre. In this mysterious realm they at length meet Peggy, who however denies her identity. There is a reception on the stage of Mlle. Fleurette, which attracts a great variety of persons. Peggy takes apartments in Honeymoon Terrace, and her father, to be near her, for he refuses to be convinced that she is not his daughter accepts a position in the house as footman. Leaders of fashion and their imitators, and persons of various social degrees seek out Mlle. Fleurette, eager to show her attention. At length, playing her father and wearying of hypocrisy, in the presence of a numerous company she declares herself as Peggy Plummer. In the musical comedy Mr. Ade has created a wide comedy of types. They are humorously contrasted and carried into droll and amusing complications. The merit of the play is infused even into the musical numbers which are bright and infectious. Especially striking are the chorus numbers in which scores of pretty girls sing and dance and move in picturesque measures. All the scenes of "Peggy From Paris" are held in Illinois. The first scene represents an "old times" party, the second is on the stage of the Faurot theatre, the third is the courtyard of Honeymoon Terrace. The company in the musical comedy is of the highest degree of excellence.

ON THE BRIDGE AT MIDNIGHT.

What promises to be the most notable event of the theatrical season is the engagement of Fred E. Wright's magnificent production of Arthur Sullivan's prettiest of all pastoral plays, "York State Folks" which come to the Faurot opera house February 14.

The play, the company and the unusually pretty scenery have been a very general topic of conversation everywhere presented. "York State Folks" is said to be so different from the usual run of rural plays that it leaves a distinct impression of its own upon the mind of the spectator. To the habitual theatre-goer, tired of stage action, stage villains and stage heroes, this absolutely natural depiction of American village life just as it actually exists comes as a pleasing variation. There is an abundance of light dialogue, and droll humor, and the pathos and sentiment of the play are not of the artificial sort. The stage settings are remarkably elaborate and many of the scenes are so well managed as to receive hearty applause.

The original company will be seen in the forthcoming engagement, in cluding James Luskaye as the forceful and dominating old village president, Simon Peter Cooper and Ray L. Kacy as the comic and humorous old musician around whom the play revolves.

Never has Mr. Carter demonstrated his power as a playwright as in his newest play "Her Only Son."

The company of fourteen people, composed of artists carefully selected by Mr. Carter from the cream of the profession.

Miss Gray as Debra Morley is extraordinarily fascinating. No previous role has fitted her so congenially. Youth, beauty, and genius combine to imbue her completely with the spirit of that ingenious, lovable, unloved and broken-hearted woman. They sympathize entirely.

Mr. Richard Cotton as Joseph Morley is a young but deservedly popular actor who has been for several years connected in a principal way.

He has the distinction of the most remarkable career of any young man in the profession.

The other roles are entrusted to accordingly responsible and valuable actors thorough and experienced.

SCIENTIFIC SERMON

Eighth in the Series by the Rev. George Wood Anderson.

Wonderful Discovery of Radium dug from the Earth by a Woman's Hand—Constantly Growing But Never Diminishing.

Following is the eighth Scientific Sermon preached by Rev. George Wood Anderson at the State Street
Baptist Church, Troy, N. Y.:

Like an iconoclast the scientist endangers the holy sanctuary and, striking right and left, brought wreck and ruin to its most sacred forms and things. Picking up the water of life they called the "Bleeding of the scientist placed it beneath the microscope and discovered that blood red stains were not dripping

from the pierced hand of Christ but divine sanction to the Communion, but a bacterial growth due to foul condition of the illy vented church and the devotion of the

ists and people became ludicrous lead of reverent. Taking the Communion wine, by chemical analysis, proved that even after the consecrating prayer, that it was only and not the blood of the world's emmer, and the doctrine of transcendentalism was cast to one side and the bones of the saints and robes of the righteous and free-

them from their superstitious surroundings and devotion, the scientist showed their inability to heal or the sick or sorrowing. Like iconoclast the scientists have endared the temple and robbed it of traditions and superstitious forms, understanding them, the devout have

d out in alarm as though the very elements themselves were assailed.
The work of the Scientists to Free Men.
It was a needless cry for the work of the scientist has never been assault the Divine but to free men from unworthy conceptions of God and ignorant, degrading worship of Holy One. God has been robbed of His glory. Our fathers eyed that He was the one supreme power from whose hands come all our blessings. We believe the same thing but with a far more rational conception of the method with which He bestows His gifts. The rain and sun are both from God, but no longer do we ask these gifts to interpret the various moods of a fickle changing God. In days of old sunlight was God's smiles; the gloom, His frowns; the rich harvests, His open generous hand; the droughts and famine, His hand tight clenched in anger. Now we know that God is not impetuous; over-indulgent one day while cruel the next, but evermore the same, bestowing His blessings according to the great laws of nature. Knowing these laws that never vary, one can ever enrich the best of gifts and change the less attractive to ones of greatest value.

God Always the Same.

Because God is not fickle, but evermore the same, by following these laws man changes the wild rose into the American Beauty, the thick grown grass into wholesome wheat, the tangled vines into rich vineyards.

The swamps that had yielded nothing but the germs of death began to yield fruit and germs of death began to yield fruit and grains to give good health. The mountain streams were led through desert lands that they might change barren sands into gardens fit for gods. Thus, knowing the sanctuary with which God held out
His open hand filled with blessings.

Man found that science, instead of robbing God of glory only increased His grandeur. God is the giver of all good gifts. Physiology teaches that man's body came from God, for each one has stamped upon it the finger marks of the Divine. Psychology showing the power of thought to control action, and of ideals in fashioning character, has shown the goodness of God in His gift of a revelation of the Divine way to have the best of thoughts and the loftiest of deeds. Astronomy, by pulling back the curtains of mist and cloud, and permitting us to look beyond the sun to constellations of stars with their revolving planets has increased man's conception of God and he cries out:

"The greater the heavens the greater is God that rules over them!"

Seed Time and Harvest Fall Not.
God is the giver of all good gifts and through His unvarying laws, His boundless benefactions never fail.
Through the laws of astronomy He gives with marvelous regularity the recession of the seasons, so that, so long as the world stands seed time and harvest shall never fail. Through the laws of botany He fills our granaries with grain, our bins with fruit, and our furnaces with fuel. Through the laws of zoology He gives us flesh for food, furs for garments, and beasts of burden to perform our toil.

Through the laws of attraction and gravitation He lifts the vapors, floats the clouds, and fashions the raindrops that He may give us the refreshing showers. Through electrical laws He clarifies the air, gives guidance to the pilgrim, and fills the world with life. Through the laws of chemistry, He gives us the refreshing streams, the perfumed spices, and the glittering gems. Through the laws that govern the intellectual life He gives us the power of memory to make all the past our servant; and imagination, to make all the future our inspiration; and a judgment that we may make the present tremendous with righteous decisions. Through the laws that govern the spiritual world He gives us comfort in the hours of trouble, in hours of depression fills us with a holy enthusiasm, and in the hours of sin gives us the power to break away from the bad habits and to flee from the presence of the tempter. Thus, ever, through these unchanging laws man is receiving from the hand of God His richest blessings. His hands are never empty, His store houses never become exhausted and as if to stir us up to the possibility of still greater benefactions He sends His Son who utters the words of my text, saying: "Whatsoever you shall ask the Father in my name, He will give it you. Hitherto ye have asked nothing in my name; ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full."

How Does God Continually Give?
When scientists first showed us that the good things of life came not direct from the hand of God that would open or close according to His fancy, men became skeptical, saying:
"There is no God, save nature." To them nature was the only God, forgetting that nature, to keep going, in her wonderful processes, must have some Supreme Power back of her just as the watch wheels must have back of them a spring, and the sunbeam must have back of it a flaming sun.

Then they asked: "How can that God give and not become impoverished? After a while the watch wheels stop, not because the spring ceases to beat, but because the long running exhausts its propelling power. Scientists themselves say that after a while even the sun itself will lose its power to warm and bless, having burned itself out. How then does God keep continually giving and yet throughout a long eternity becomes not exhausted?"

It was at first thought that the theory of the conservation of energy would answer this question. According to this theory nothing is ever lost. The sunbeam falling a million years ago was not lost. Storing itself away in leaf or wood cell, for ages slumbering in the coal, it now leaps in yonder gas jet to minister unto us.
Matter is indestructible and energy never dies, but goes on forever only changing form. The soil of today will be wood tomorrow, fruit the next,
and falling to the ground will scatter to the winds and back again to the soil, so all these gifts are only the changing of the same force, only manifesting itself in various forms at various times. Therefore God needs not give of Himself. But this fails to answer the question for it would require a constant procession of manifestations going, and this expenditure coming from God would naturally exhaust His power in time as would the idea that all came from His extended hand.

A Late Discovery Tells How.
There has lately in the scientific world been a discovery which very clearly shows how this divine condition may be possible. Not that it fully answers the question, but approaching shows the possibility of such a power being a quality of God.
A few years ago M. Henri Becquerel found that a piece of pure uranium, when exposed to the sunlight would, after a while, emit certain rays sufficiently strong to take a picture of any metallic article placed between it and the sensitive plate.

He then wondered if the crude ore would perform the same work. Taking a piece he determined to try the experiment, but the day being dark, he decided to wait a few days, and placed the plate, the key and the piece of ore away in a darkened drawer. A few days afterward he found the image of the key on the plate for he had placed the plate in first laying the key between it and the ore. He saw that even the crude ore had the same power of the sun bathed uranium. The discovery of these, which were then called the Becquerel Rays was heralded everywhere. Among the ones who became interested in this discovery was a young woman, a wife of Professor Curie, who was then working for her doctor's degree in one of the French colleges of science. Taking for the subject of her thesis, what she pleased to call, "Radioactivity," she determined to show that which produced the photograph was some more powerful agent than uranium.

Nothing Hinders Its Work.
Nothing alters its powers. Heated in the furnace or embodied in frozen air it carries on its natural work. It produces chemical changes, turning clear glass into the most beautiful of violet, and working chemical changes in iron and manganese. It never ceases giving off innumerable atoms.
There is a preparation known as Sidot's blend which is used to detect phosphorescence. Bringing a small quantity of radium near a surface coated with this blend and looking at it through a microscope the coated surface will look like a "turbulent luminous sea" so rapidly are the atoms rushing from the radium and beating against this reflective background. Sir William Crookes claims to have actually seen the impact of these flying atoms, as they are projected with the power of light from the radium. Constantly giving of itself. All other forms of light are undulations of the ether but these are real particles, that are ever more being hurled into space.

The Greatest Discovery of Science.
Yet, impossible as it may seem,
this element is absolutely inexhaustable. The yielding of all this power and heat and light and atoms does not weaken its power, lower its temperature, deaden its luster or lessen its weight. The most marvelous discovery in all the realm of science!
Its power comparing sizes, is far above the most extravagant calculations of the astronomer's, sneering the power of the sun. It is self-sustaining. Cut it off from all light and wrap it with sheets of iron or copper or lead and it will still continue to perform its work. The X-ray depends upon an electric current to perform its work but not so with radium.
It stands the most perplexing problem ever confronting the scientific world. It threatens the teachings of chemistry for it contends that no element can change itself into another element and yet, without a doubt radium becomes helium. Astronomers find that the sun is surrounded with helium which may come from helium.

If such is the case then all their theories concerning the source of the sun's heat has been overturned. By its prodigality of throwing off atoms and yet not decreasing in size or heat or weight the atomic theory is threatened. Wonderful discovery dug from the earth and revealed to the world by a woman's hand!

God's Power Never Exhausted.
What radium does in the material world God does in the spiritual world with an unending and unvarying constancy. He is busy giving warmth to the cold and frozen hearts of men, giving a light divine to illuminate their gloom, giving healing power to their sin-sick souls, giving power to overcome the habits within them and the evil tendencies about them, and yet He is never exhausted. His love for man is as strong today as when He kissed the first man into existence.
The light of His presence is as radiant today as when He appeared to Moses amid the splendor of Sinai, or Christ upon the Mount of Transfiguration. His power to transform man is as strong as when He changed Saul of Tarsus into the faithful hor-dard of the cross. Through all the ages past He has been blessing men, for all the ages yet to come He will still be blessing them. How can that be? I do not know any more than you know how radium acts and accomplishes what it does contrary to all the scientific teachings of the past. From the day of creation to the present time it has been busy giving ever and yet it is as strong today as when it was first created. All you know about it is that it is here, healing diseases, aiding in detecting false gems, and serving in a thoro and useful ways. All I know is that God's strength never gives out. He is here tonight to heal the soul, to aid you in the detecting of the false, and learning the true. With out-stretched arms He is ready to receive you, and with exhaustless treasures He is ready to enrich you. No gold mine was ever so free with its treasures, nor blossom ever so free with its perfume as He is with the blessing He has to bestow in heart and daily life.
"He that cometh unto me I will in no wise cast off." "Hitherto ye have asked nothing in my name. Ask largely that your joys may be full."

C., H. & D. LIMITED WAS DITCHED.

One Passenger Killed and Number Injured

A Broken Rail Causes Three Last Coaches

Of This Magnificent Train to Leave the Track at Belmore, Near Deshler.

Parlor Car and Ladies' Coach Were Turned On to Their Sides Twenty Feet From the Track.

Mrs. Cyrus Frazer, of Sidney, Was Crushed Beyond Recognition—No Lima People on the Train—Track Torn Up for Several Hundred Yards.

THE NEWS OF THE AWFUL WRECK ON THE CINCINNATI, HAMILTON AND DAYTON RAILROAD NEAR DESHLER LAST NIGHT, WAS RECEIVED AT THE COMPANY'S HEADQUARTERS IN THIS CITY, A FEW MINUTES AFTER IT HAPPENED AND AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE THE WRECKING CREW WAS CALLED AND THE COMPANY'S SURGEONS, DR. O. E. CHENOWETH AND OLIVER STEINER, STARTED FOR THE SCENE OF THE ACCIDENT ABOUT SEVEN O'CLOCK. THE INJURED AND KILLED HAD ALL BEEN REMOVED FROM THE DEBRIS BEFORE THE LIMA SPECIAL GOT THERE AND WERE BEING CARED FOR BY SURGEONS FROM OTHER POINTS ALONG THE LINE. WHILE THE TRACK WAS PUT IN SHAPE FOR TRAFFIC BY AN EARLY HOUR THIS MORNING, THE WRECKING CREW WAS BUSY ALL DAY TUGGING AWAY AT THE DERAILED COACHES.

KILLED.
MRS. CYRUS FRAZER, of Sidney, Ohio, crushed beyond recognition.

INJURED.
C. F. BUCHOUSE, formerly of Lima, conductor, right leg injured, face cut.
MOSES OWEN, porter, of Cincinnati, knee badly wrenched.

P. H. BIGGS, of Cincinnati, cook, both hips wrenched.
W. W. PRESTON, Milwaukee, badly injured; taken to St. Vincent's hospital.

F. E. HINDLATER, Grand Rapids, Mich., cut on hand and right arm, taken to Tavern.

MRS. CORAL WILLIAMS, Deshler, slightly injured taken to Deshler.

L. F. RAPPOPORT, Indianapolis, hand lacerated, went through to Detroit.

O. S. COATE and son, L. J. COATE, of Detroit; father slightly injured in right hand, son slightly injured in left foot.

DR. E. T. GROSVENOR and WIFE, of Detroit, both cut about head; went on to Detroit.

J. M. MILLER, hand cut, went through to Michigan point.

F. H. ROYER, Detroit, leg slightly injured; went on to Detroit.

CHARLES BACKUS, of Detroit, right leg injured; went through to Detroit.

Toledo, O., Feb. 4.—The above is the authenticated list of killed and injured in a wreck on the C., H. & D. last night as furnished by J. Cory Winans, general traveling passenger agent, and who was on the train when the accident occurred and saw to the care of the injured.

Mr. Winans was himself slightly bruised about the hips, but did not consider his injuries worth mentioning.

The accident occurred one mile north of Belmore and five miles south of Deshler about 5:15 last night when the "Michigan Flyer," the C., H. & D. limited No. 4, due here at 6:42, was wrecked by the spreading of the rails.

The train consisted of a mail car, a combination baggage and smoker, a ladies' coach, a combination cafe and coach and a parlor car. There were about 150 passengers on board, and the train was not more than two or three minutes behind time, and making about on a straight track. The parlor car was well filled with passengers, and it was there that most of the injuries were received. The combination cafe and coach contained only Mrs. Frazer, who was killed; the chef and porter, the conductor and four passengers. The ladies' coach was well filled, containing a greater part of the passengers, and there were a number of passengers in the smoker.

Apparently the rear car—the parlor car—left the track first, and with it the combination cafe and coach. They tore up the rails on the east side of the track for about 400 feet, and were finally thrown down the embankment a distance of six feet, and, rolling over at least twice, landed on their side on the right of way.

Coach Passengers Lucky.

The ladies' coach, which contained the greater part of the 150 passengers, was turned across the track, but was not thrown down the embankment, and the combination baggage and smoker was equally fortunate. The inmates of those two cars received nothing worse than a sudden shaking up, with a few bruises. The engine and mail car did not leave the track.

The cars were heated by steam and lighted by electricity, and there was no fire horror. The electric lights in the wrecked cars remained burning and were of great assistance in the rescue.

Work of Rescue.

The passengers were principally men, and Mr. Winans said last night that he never saw a cooler lot at a wreck. Those uninjured, as soon as they realized what had happened, went to work to rescue the passengers in the two badly wrecked cars. Mr. Winans himself had been sitting in the ladies' coach with Assistant General Passenger Agent Bronson, of the Pennsylvania. By a fortunate chance the steam heat in the cafe and coach car had not been exactly right, and most of the passengers had left that car for the ladies' coach. Otherwise the death list might have been heavier.

Had Daughter Here.

Mrs. Frazer, who was coming to Toledo to see her mother and a sick daughter, Mrs. Percy Taylor, at the Monticello, had just entered the cafe and sat down. She had not been served when the crash came resulting in her instant death. The body is very badly mangled.

Immediately after the wreck the engine, which remained on the rails, was cut loose from the mail car and came here, where a special relief train was made up and a call sent out for all the company's surgeons to come here. The train left immediately and upon arrival the injured were carried to it and given prompt attention. Citizens of Deshler responded to the call and assisted in getting the wounded from the debris. The relief train returned to Deshler with the injured, where they were properly taken care of.

To Their Destination.

As fast as possible the injured passengers were sent to their destination on the first outgoing train. About three-quarters of a mile of track was torn up and traffic was delayed 12 hours.

Mrs. Frazer when found was pinned in the cafe car, which she had just entered for lunch. She was bound for Detroit. She was buried beneath the car and was dug out by the conductor and a porter. Her features were so badly mangled that identification was impossible and her name was learned through her card in her purse. Her head had been nearly severed from the body.

She was the only occupant of the car except the steward and chef. They escaped with a few bruises.

Traveling Passenger Agent J. Cory Winans, of Toledo, was a passenger, but escaped injury.

A Cincinnati Matron.

Mrs. Williams, the Cincinnati woman, who was so frightfully injured in the wreck, lived at the corner of Langdon and Wabash avenues, in Hyde Park. Her husband is Mr. Robert T. Williams. She was on the way to Deshler, Ohio, to visit her father, Dr. T. M. Gehrett, of that place, who is the division surgeon of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway. A singular coincidence is that she was hurt in the smashup which occasioned a call being sent to him to come to attend the injured.

Mrs. W. S. Walters returned yesterday from a two weeks' visit with her parents near West Newton.

troit and Cincinnati since the merger of the C., H. and D. and the Pere Marquette this fall, left Lima 15 minutes late, in charge of Engineer Charles Long and Conductor Buckhouse. The train was within two miles of this place, rushing along at the rate of 50 miles per hour, as stated by Engineer Long, when the rear truck of the combination coach left the track as the result of spreading rails. The last three coaches, chair car, cafe and parlor cars, were turned completely over and hurled 95 feet after they left the rails. They landed in a field adjoining the company's right of way. The head end of the train was dragged 20 car lengths before it could be stopped. The engineer says he knew something was wrong, but could not apply the air for fear of piling up the train.

After the Wreck.

Immediately after the wreck the engine, which remained on the rails, was cut loose from the mail car and came here, where a special relief train was made up and a call sent out for all the company's surgeons to come here. The train left immediately and upon arrival the injured were carried to it and given prompt attention. Citizens of Deshler responded to the call and assisted in getting the wounded from the debris. The relief train returned to Deshler with the injured, where they were properly taken care of.

To Their Destination.

As fast as possible the injured passengers were sent to their destination on the first outgoing train. About three-quarters of a mile of track was torn up and traffic was delayed 12 hours.

Mrs. Frazer when found was pinned in the cafe car, which she had just entered for lunch. She was bound for Detroit. She was buried beneath the car and was dug out by the conductor and a porter. Her features were so badly mangled that identification was impossible and her name was learned through her card in her purse. Her head had been nearly severed from the body.

She was the only occupant of the car except the steward and chef. They

escaped with a few bruises.

Traveling Passenger Agent J. Cory Winans, of Toledo, was a passenger, but escaped injury.

A Cincinnati Matron.

Mrs. Williams, the Cincinnati woman, who was so frightfully injured in the wreck, lived at the corner of Langdon and Wabash avenues, in Hyde Park. Her husband is Mr. Robert T. Williams. She was on the way to Deshler, Ohio, to visit her father, Dr. T. M. Gehrett, of that place, who is the division surgeon of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway. A singular coincidence is that she was hurt in the smashup which occasioned a call being sent to him to come to attend the injured.
